

Food service and catering consultancy for the Health Sector

Andrew Etherington Associates is an owner-driven professional, independent and fee-based foodservice consultancy. Having been closely involved in the development of the Better Hospital Food programme, Andrew is confident that he and his team are ideally placed to offer advice and assistance to the healthcare sector.

According to the needs of the client, we can draw upon the individual or combined skills of a number of carefully chosen and experienced professional catering consultants. Our services are used by both in-house teams wishing to improve their services as well as those Trusts who have outsourced their catering and need unbiased and independent specialist advice.

We can advise across a wide range of issues including strategy, food production and delivery, facilities and equipment, tendering, monitoring and finance. Our experience encompasses both management and design projects. We are convinced that we have the necessary range of skills to meet the specific needs of the healthcare market.

Furthermore, as each consultant is an individual professional member of the FCSI (Foodservice Consultants Society International) we have to abide by a strict code of business ethics.

Should you have a need for independent, impartial and professional advice on the catering services offered to your patients, staff and visitors, we would be delighted to demonstrate how we can be of assistance to you. Call us now to arrange a guaranteed no-obligation first meeting.
